With the help of our diligent support staff, TSA allows physicians to do what they do best, take care of his/her patient. Many of the day to day tasks and paperwork are handled by our support staff. As a TSA physician, you will spend a majority of your time providing quality anesthesia care while administrative duties are resolved by our support staff.

TSA History

TSA believes in fairness and collegiality. As such, our model is a fee for service practice, governed by our members to insure our ability to adapt to changing healthcare demands. With our historically low turnover, we are confident that TSA fosters a mutually beneficial relationship.

Why Choose TSA

- Compensation

- Our reimbursement model is 100% salary based where individuals are treated equally and fairly. In this type of business structure, all insurances are treated the same and do not negatively impact any individual compensation.

- MD/CRNA Practice Model

- This is the practice model that has always been utilized by TSA. This model has fostered excellent collegial relationships with our surgeons that are built on mutual respect. Our model has been an overwhelming success over the life of our group, resulting in a highly stable relationship with all of our hospitals and surgeons.

- Work Environment

- TSA serves one major hospital and one outpatient center one pain center. Therefore, we have the ability to have different practice setting with different styles that keeps things interesting and challenging.

- Lifestyle

- TSA offers a unique amount of flexibility in the allowance of different scheduling options. We have the ability to work as our lifestyle goals dictates. This ability lends itself to the fact that the Midwest provides group members a great part of the country in which to live. Chicago land and neighboring states Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan offers an immense amount of activity options that includes hiking, biking, kayaking, sailing, windsurfing, and skiing!

- Stability

- The collegial work environment, combined with TSA's low overhead, and excellent management has led to an extremely low turnover rate. Most group members spend their entire career with us.
